

Educational Research Services

Excalibur Education Group

Education research can be a minefield, and many institutions and systems do not have the personnel to conduct high-quality experimental research. Quantitative and qualitative research can be important to establish the effectiveness of programs, and the Excalibur team can provide a comprehensive approach to educational research.

Why Excalibur?

Excalibur Education has a team of experienced researchers, including three IES WhatWorksClearinghouse® certified reviewers. Using a federal database, the Excalibur team can help you identify prior research effectiveness on proposed initiatives and interventions. As experienced practitioners and researchers, the Excalibur team will work with your institution to document program outcomes and effectiveness using the highest standard of evaluation research.

Educational Research Services

The Excalibur Education Group offers the following research services:

- Evidence for Prior Effectiveness
 - WWC® Reviewed Studies
 - Literature Review of Relevant Research
- General Education Research Review
- Targeted Institutional Improvement Initiative Analysis
- Quantitative and Qualitative Research of Identified Programs
- Design of RCT, cluster-RCT, QED, and Single Case Design Research to Meet WhatWorksClearinghouse® Standards

The Excalibur Process

Regardless of the services selected to help your institution with education research, the Excalibur team will work with campus leadership to identify research and adapt the methodology and results that fit the institution. The services provided commonly include communicating with campus leadership, targeted focus groups (students, faculty, internal and external stakeholders), data analysis, review of outcomes, and personalized institutional adaptation.
